SATURDAY, JUNE 16, 1744.

Yesterday arriv'd a Mail from Flanders.

Berlin, June 13.

THE Day before Yesterday his Majesty arriv'd at Potsdam, from Pyrmont, about Four in the Afternoon. The Waters have agreed extremely well with him; and his Majesty was never known to enjoy a better State of Health than he does at present. The Day for the Marriage of her Royal Highness the Princess Ulrica, to his Royal Swedish Highness, is yet fix'd; but we have Reason to believe that this Affair will be celebrated about the Middle of July, the Diversion which that Solemnity will occasion, being duely settled. It is observed, that his Majesty is extremely fond of conferring with any of the Foreign Ministers, but spends his Mornings, usually, with the Duke of Holstein Beck, and M. Bowdens, who is Secretary at War. Yesterday, at Dinner, his Majesty was more than ordinarily merry; I know not how it is, but, of late, there is nothing to please some of my Neighbours. If they Troops remain Quiet in their Quarters, they cry, I pay no Attention to my Treaties; and no sooner are we in Motion, than this is made a Handle for suspecting me of bad Designs; as if all the Princes of Europe had not a Liberty to take up Arms, to procure or defend their just Rights, except myself. The Baron de Cocceii is appointed, by the King, to go and receive Homage of the Inhabitants of East-Friesland: Some People suppose, that this Affair will be attended with great Difficulties, but the Court does not appear to have any such Notions; but, on the contrary, suppose, that as the King does no Injury to his Neighbours, none of his Neighbours will incline to provoke him.

Vienna, June 6. Count Dohna, some Days ago, had a private Audience of the Queen, but we know nothing of what passed. Yesterday an Express arrived from Moravia, with Advice, that the Prussian Troops in Silesia were in Motion, and seemed on the Point of entering Austria; but where, or against whom, remains, as yet, a Secret, as well as most of the Designs of that Prince, an impenetrable Mystery. The Court, however, does not seem to take the least Umbrage at it; from whence we infer, that Count Dohna acquainted her Majesty with the true Reason of the Step's being taken. The Presents designed for the Turks, are to set out next Week.

Extract of a Private Letter from Lyons, dated June 6, 1744.

The Bailiff de Givri, and the Spanish Officers who were detach'd with him, to view the Piedmontese Entrenchments at Onigia, and the Pass of Tende, have made their Reports to the Prince of Conti and the Infant Don Philip, the former gave it, as his Opinion That we ought to renounce all Hopes of penetrating into Italy by either of those Passages, for three Reasons; First, Because the natural Obstacles, such, as seem altogether insurmountable. Secondly, because it has been, with the utmost Difficulty, that the Troops have been subsisted for six Weeks past; and Thirdly, Because there is not the least Hopes of receiving the smallest Succour from the combined Powers. On the other Hand, the Infant Don Philip, or rather, the Marquis de Minas, who is his Tutor, encouraged by our late Success, is for pushing, immediately, in hopes of carrying those Posts, before the Enemy have Time to fortify themselves effectually. Their Disputes have been carried to such a Height, as to occasion the suspending our Operations till the Return of the Couriers dispatched to their most Christian and Catholick Majesties; and, in particular, to learn the true Intentions of our Court; upon which it will entirely depend, Whether we shall continue to prosecute the War on this Side, or, after blowing up the Fortifications of Montalban and Villafranka, repass the Var, in order to open another Passage thro' Dauphiny. The Duke de Chaila is actually set out from the County of Nice, in order to assemble 15 Battalions, and as many Squadrons, in the Valley of Barcelonetta, to be at Hand, to force the Passages of Fonestrelles and Demont, and to join the Spaniards at Coni, who are to make an Attempt on the Col. de Tende. This Project seems to shew, that our Court approves rather of the Spanish General's Plan, than of that of the Prince of Conti. In the mean time, it is certain, that our Troops are extremely harrassed, and in a miserable Condition. We have certain Intelligence, that Admiral Matthews has detached Eight Ships of the Line, "with all his Bomb Vessels and Fireships, in order to attack, or, at least, to insult, the City of Naples."

IRELAND.

Dublin, June 7. Yesterday being a great Spring Tide, a vast Army of Porpusses came up Lough Foyle, in pursuit of Salmon. As they rolled by Londonderry, the Sailors pursued them in their Boats, and killing them all the Way, drove them six Miles farther up the Lough, to the Flats about Mount Garvin. There a new Chace began by our Fishermen, and the Country People; who stretched a great Net across the Lough, and drove them up to the narrow Passages of the Great Island, which lies a Mile below this Town; there they fell on them with Guns, Swords, Hatchets, and all Kinds of Weapons, and made a terrible Slaughter. There were kill'd here above 160, besides as many more mortally wounded, and carried off by the Flood. Including those the Men of Londonderry killed, there have at least fallen in this Battle 500 Porpusses, generally weighing from 1000, to 1500 Weight, and very good for Oil. Some of them were full of young Ones as big as Calves; and some had from Six to Ten Salmon in their Stomachs. But we hope, that since these grand Devourers are destroyed, our Fishing will hereafter flourish; and we are pretty well repaid by their Oil, for the Damage they have done.

Last Week Mr. John Boucher, who was concerned in carrying away Miss Ingoldsby, of the County of Limerick, and for the apprehending of whom a Reward was offered, was taken, and committed to Newgate.

Last Thursday a Cause was finally determined, in his Majesty's Court of Exchequer, between William Blood, Gent. one of the Attornies, Ann Adams, otherwise Blood, Administrators of Thomas Blood, a Lunatick, decess'd, Plaintiffs; and Richard Evans, Defendant; concerning a Sale of some Land, sold by the said Thomas Blood, to the said Richard Evans; and after a full Hearing, which lasted the greatest part of six Days, and after several learned Arguments by the Counsel on both Sides, the Court unanimously pronounced a Decree, in the Plaintiff's Favour; and set aside the Sale made to the Defendant, with Costs.

Last Tuesday Morning died Mr. Walker, the Player. He was the Person who first play'd the Part of Capt. Macheath in the Beggar's Opera.

Last Sunday a Boy of about Seven Years old was cut for the Stone, in the charitable Infirmary, in the lateral Way, by Mr. Dunny; who extracted from him a large rough Stone, weighing nine Drachms, medical Weight. The Boy is like to do well.

This Week the Charter Working School, near Sintry, was opened. It is erected for 20 poor Popish Boys, sent from the distant Counties of the Kingdom; who are to be employed in the Trade of Flax-dressing, and brought up in the Protestant Religion. A Benefaction of 50 l. per Ann. from the Corporation of the City of Dublin, gave Rise to this Foundation; which his Grace, the late Lord Primate, generously improved, by a Donation of 400 l. towards the Buildings. The Honourable Board of Linen Manufacture have order'd a Salary of 25 l. a Year, to a Flax Dresser, to instruct the Boys in that Art; the Society have done the rest. The Right Hon. Luke Gardiner, Esq; gave an Acre of Land in Perpetuity, on which the School is erected; and ten Acres more are rented by the Society from the same Gentleman. Two Acres of the Ground are this Year under Flax, with a fit Portion of it set apart for the Kitchen Garden, &c.

Last Sunday died, at his Seat at Moniva, in the County of Galway, Counsellor Pat. Trench. He was a worthy Gentleman, and had been many Years Member for the Borough of Bleffington.

On Friday died of the Gout, Christopher Hewetson of Thomastown, in the County of Kilkenny, Esquire. He was a very active Gentleman against the Gang of Kellymount Raps, six of whom he took, who were executed at Kilkenny and Carlow.

Yesterday, at the Court of King's Bench, Fifteen of the Billiard Tables, presented by the late Grand Jury of this City, (who had traversed) were convicted there. The Citizens of this Metropolis are determined to prosecute, in the same manner, all Billiard Tables that may be erected for the future, or those which now remain, if kept open after the Hour of Nine at Night; or knowingly suffer Merchants, or other Apprentices, or Clerks belonging to Gentlemen of any Business, to play in their Houses.

The Elector of Mentz has given an Answer to the same Purpose, but in rougher Terms; and the Elector of Cologne has actually declared, that, if any Attempts are made to carry off Forage or Provisions, in the Manner that was done last Year, he shall be obliged to repel Force by Force, without farther Ceremony.

Private Letters from the Hague inform us, that the Prussian Minister has declared to the States General, by Order from his Master, that he has no Sort of Intention to disturb their High Mightinesses's Garisons; and therefore he hopes, they will not oppose his taking Possession of the Principality of East-Friesland; the eventual Investiture of which was granted to the King his Father.

 The late vigorous Attempts of the Emiſſaries of Rome, to diffuſe their poiſonous Tenets among a free and Proteſtant People, and that under the happy Government of an illuſtrious Proteſtant Prince, muſt raiſe in every ſober and generous Mind a juſt Indignation againſt them, and a tender Compaſſion to the Weak and Ignorant, who are moſt expoſed to the horrid Deluſions. Surely, never did any Thing, that wore the ſacred Name of Religion, appear in the World, ſo ſtrouſly abſurd and deteſtable as Popery, which is the moſt Merchandiſe of Men's Lives and Souls, and lies in direct Contradiction to Reaſon and Revelation, to Morality and Common Senſe, and to all the deareſt Intereſts of Civil Society, of Liberty, Conſcience, and Eternal Salvation.
